

COO and Managing Director

Wim Tjerkstra

Wim leads the company's Execution Divisions, ensuring the delivery of high quality project management and engineering services that help our customers achieve their unique goals.

With over 25 years' experience in procurement, contract management, logistics and project management for all kinds of technical projects, Wim is a recognized operational management professional. With exceptional communication skills, he mentors and leads key direct reports by example, offering coaching and techniques for developing employees. This track record made him keenly aware of the importance of efficient and effective organizations coupled with understanding how team work and people development is a key component to achieving RWE TI's strategic goals.

Wim earned his diploma degrees in economics and logistics at the Koninklijke Militaire Academie (KMA), the Dutch Royal Military Academy on behalf of the Royal Netherlands Air Force.

1 What gives you most satisfaction in your work?

When we jointly successfully deliver a service under challenging conditions and learn from it as a team and as individuals.

2 Why did you choose RWE TI?

To work in an international organization with international customers, combining the best of multiple worlds to deliver large scale complex projects.

3 What three words best describe you?

Energetic. Result driven. Open.

4 "Your challenge is our passion!" – What it means to me:

Your assignment is taken on with enthusiasm and the motivation to bring our experience as operator and consultant successfully to bear on the project. Put your trust in our expertise, our sincerity and our reliability and we will support you to create your future.
