

Senior Civil Engineer and Principal Lead of Civil Division

Klaus Mörchen

Klaus is principal expert in civil engineering with 27 years of professional experience in both design and execution of all kinds of civil structures including energy supply and industrial facilities or residential areas. He holds an additional examination as authorized expert in damages to premises or buildings.

Klaus worked for general contractors, consultants and employers both domestic and international. He took the responsibility as a project manager, site manager, design coordinator, designer, structural analyst, contract manager and for the tendering process. He is experienced in all project phases and is responsible for high level construction budgets.

Klaus studied Civil Engineering at the Technical University in Aachen (RWTH).

1 What gives you most satisfaction in your work?

Working on challenging and ambitious projects in professional and international teams.

2 Why did you choose RWE TI?

The opportunity to manage and construct unique and manifold energy infrastructure projects.

3 “You have the choice” – What it means to me:

We assure that in us you have a team of highly qualified specialists with a wide range of expertise. We will give precise answers to your questions and impress you in all project phases.