

Contract- and Claim-Manager Nicolas Schewietzek

Nicolas Schewietzek is RWE Technology International's expert for contract and claim management in particular for planning law (e.g. HOAI). His expertise encompasses management of all types of construction and planning contracts as well as support in the design and negotiation of these contracts. In claim management, he supports clients in all contractual issues related to the planning and implementation of a construction project.

Nicolas' goal is to ensure the smooth running of a project by identifying and evaluating potential project deviations and assisting the client with claims by the project partner as well the defense of these claims.

Nicolas has completed his master's degree in "construction law in the life cycle of structures" at the University of Applied Sciences in Münster.

Through his professional career, Nicolas is well familiar with the tendering and awarding of construction measures and has also gained several years of experience in the construction management and supervision of major projects.

1 What gives you most satisfaction in your work?

The positive teamwork and the mutual feedback for the continuous improvement of the own work. Solving different and complex problems together as a team in order to offer a suitable solution for the customer.

2 Why did you choose RWE TI?

The different projects in the field of power generation and plant construction as well as the interdisciplinary cooperation with international teams of engineers at RWE Technology International.

3 "You get your best solution" – What it means to me:

To understand the requirements and wishes of the customer, in the case of different complex problems, and to develop the best possible solution strategy based on this.
