

Documentation Manager Marco Schmidt

Marco is an expert for documentation management and labelling of power plants. He has worked in the construction industry for over 25 years, gaining experience with major power plant construction and engineering contractors. He is also an expert in drawing P&IDs and design and layout planning of power plants with various CAD systems.

Marco worked as a professional for maintenance and production of power plants and is currently working as a documentation manager for new build projects at home and abroad. As contract and site manager for labelling he is also responsible for a 2×800MW new build hard coal power plant.

Additionally, Marco is in charge of a sizable budget for his tasks. He is well practiced in communicating and dealing with suppliers concerning all aspects of documentation.

1 What gives you most satisfaction in your work?

I love to see it when out of small parts a vast body is created.

2 Why did you choose RWE TI?

I am interested in national and international projects and RWE Technology International offers the opportunity to work abroad in a highly interdisciplinary team with colleagues from different cultures.

3 “You get your best solution” – What it means to me:

We will solve your problems as if they were our own.
